ENEWS ~ At A Glance

June 2010

So... I have another story to tell about my 3rd child, Mad Max. Mad Max has a hard time being quiet. This little guy always has something to say & you better listen to him the first time, otherwise he will repeat it again, & again, & again, & again... Even though Mad Max is adopted, he is very much like his Dad - Scott. I always said that my husband, as wonderful as he is, could talk to a tree & I believe that Max has this special talent, too! Somehow that "Nelson-Gene" made it all the way to South Korea & was implanted in our son!

But back to my story... at my oldest son's baseball game the other night, Max decided to sit in the bleachers, with a friend, & "entertain" the other mom's, as my husband & I were sitting in our lawn chairs, closer to the dugout. After the game, my friend came up to me & told me the "tall tale" that Max had told her. My son told her that he takes karate lessons, at night, in New York City! He goes there when I am sleeping & returns home before morning.

The crazy thing is... Max has never had a karate lesson in his life, never has been to New York City, & I am pretty sure that at night he is sound asleep in his bedroom with his night light, the door opened, & his blankets laying on him "just perfect." Just as Mad Max wishes, every night. Because everything in Max's life is about routine! EVERYTHING!

Max stood there, watching my friend tell me about their conversation & just smiled at me. As I shook my head, the thought entered my mind, that this is the same kid who told me earlier in the week:

"Mom - my hands didn't get me into trouble at preschool, only my fingers did!"

I dare you... guess what Constitution Mad Max is ... & then send me a gallon!

The World Of Nosodes

NOSODE: A homeopathic remedy prepared from diseased tissue or the product of disease.

~ Whole Health NOW - Professional Homeopathy Terms

Sounds disgusting, doesn't it? Are you seriously going to ask someone to ingest a medicine made from diseased tissue or the product of a disease? Furthermore, after you mention what the medicine is made from, is the person going to take it anyway? The answer isn't as simple as a "yes or no."

A nosode is a prime example of a homeopathic medicine. Recall, that a homeopathic medicine is based on the "Law Of Similars." Simply put, the Law Of Similars states, "Likes are cured by likes." A substance which is capable of producing morbid symptoms in the healthy, will remove those same (similar) symptoms occurring as an expression of sickness (disease). Another way of putting it is homeopathic medicine is based on the principle, "the hair of the dog."

As noted before, conventional medicine has something that is based on this very principle. Conventional medicine calls them “vaccines or immunizations.” Immunizations are given each year to thousands of children to “develop” their defense system to fight off an attack by a particular agent. However, unlike nosodes, vaccines have been known to have side effects. Furthermore, vaccinations stimulate the body in a very unnatural way, causing it to be come overwhelmed & causing an overreaction.

Nosodes do not have side effects because technically, there is no chemical component to the remedy. Like all other homeopathic remedies, “the energy” of the substance, & not the actual substance, stimulates the body to protect itself.

Example One: Drinking a cup of coffee may cause a person to feel jittery & wired. The homeopathic remedy Coffea Cruda is made from unroasted coffee & used to promote restful sleep!

Example Two: Arsenicum Album is made from the “white oxide of Arsenic.” Arsenic poisoning causes extreme distress to the digestive system. The homeopathic remedy Arsenicum Album calms a burning, irritable, stomach with vomiting & nausea.

Nosodes can be made from many different things, such as: bacteria, fungus, viruses, toxic chemicals, &/or pollutants. Amazingly, even substances from respiratory discharges & diseased tissue can be used! But again, since the substance undergoes repeated dilution through potentization in an alcoholic base, the substance, itself, becomes harmless. Yet, the “energy” of the substance is ever-present, multiplied in strength, creating a very effective natural remedy. A nosode allows the entire immune system to be stimulated & then react quickly & effectively to the exposure.

Hello Summer!

It is that time of year again! Get the mower running, dig out the swimsuits, put the lawn chairs in the car, & all of that gardening!

It is that time of year again, when you begin to move a little more, bend a little more, twist & turn, as you enjoy playing & working in the summer sun!

With this in mind, it is also that time of year that you begin to use muscles that perhaps you forgot about during the long, cold winter. Muscles that scream in pain after the first time you mow the lawn. Joints that refuse to bend the day after playing ball in the park, & tendons that feel as “stiff as a board.”
