

JUNE

“It’s beautiful the Summer month of June
When all of God’s own wildflowers are in bloom
And sun shines brightly most part of the day
And butterflies o’er lush green meadows play.

Light hearted skylark songster of the wing
High o’er the quiet and lonely moorland sing
Above her nest cloaked by the tangled heath
Her charming song so exquisitely sweet.

So mellow the gentle breath of june day breeze
The birds rejoicing on the leafy trees
And dappled trout in pool bed of the stream
Bask in the sun their spotted skins a gleam.”

Constitution Of The Month “STRAMONIUM”

KEYNOTE: Light & Dark

Common Name:	Thornapple, Devil’s Apple, Stinkweed, False Castor Oil
Habitat:	South America, West Asia
Parts Used:	Juice From The Fresh Plant
Symptoms Better:	With Light, Company & Warmth
Symptoms Worse:	After A Long Sleep, Cloudy Weather, Being Left Alone, Attempting To Swallow Liquids

Dramatic & famous are 2 words that could be used to describe Stramonium. And so could the words, “state of insanity.”

The Stramonium constitution is rare. The mentals of a true Stramonium constitution are so extreme that most often, true Stramoniums are only found in mental institutions. Most of the time, the Stramonium constitution is male. However, it is interesting to note that the few Stramoniums that are female, find a way to reside in the “real world,” & are able to avoid institutional life.

There is an intense “darkness” about the Stramonium constitution. He fears the night because he knows that is when the “boogymen” appears. The Stramonium is often haunted by night terrors, delusions & hallucinations. In the dark, hallucinations come more often & are very intense.

The fear of the night is so apparent that he literally hates to see the sun go down.

Stramonium children will have an extreme fear of the dark. These kids will want to sleep with the lights on & refuse to go into an unlit room. In the dark, Stramonium child will see monsters. Furthermore, the monsters he sees are in vivid detail & not just the “shadowy figures” seen by most other children. Once the Stramonium child is scared, it takes a long time to calm him back down. Long after the parents have come into the room, he will continue to scream in fear.

On the flipside however, what scares the Stramonium, also entices it. Things which are of the “evil” nature often fascinate the Stramonium constitution. This “idiosyncrasy” runs very strong in Stramonium boys & male adults.

In fact, Stramonium men & boys will watch a horror movie, be up all night from the horror they saw, but in the end want to repeat the process again. These men & boys will openly admit, in the daytime, that this kind of “stuff” entices them!

The Stramonium constitution is frightening because what terrifies them can end up “controlling” them. This is when the Stramonium will not just be a spectator of horror but become the doer of horrific things!

As sad as it may be, there is probably no other constitution as violent as the Stramonium. When a Stramonium loses it, your best bet is just to get out of the way. He will scream & hit. As a child, he will bite, scratch, & pinch.

The rage is next to insane & is accompanied by the frightening desire to cause physical harm or even kill! Plus, there is no feeling of being able to control his thoughts or feelings whilst he is raging.

In a calm state, the Stramonium will acknowledge these dark feelings, but will do so in a “detached” way. He recognizes this side of his personality, but talks about it as if he were talking about a lab specimen.

The Stramonium constitution will be able to flip back & forth between the “Raging Guy” & the “Normal Guy” without hesitation. In addition, he will do so as if you flipped a light switch - that quick. The Stramonium will admit in a calm voice that yes, he did cause harm but he will show no remorse for his actions.

Stramonium says, “Yes officer, I stabbed my wife with scissors, but she deserved it because she talked to me during the game.”

Female Stramoniums also have the rage, but for whatever reason, she is able to control it more than the male Stramonium.

Most of the time, Stramoniums are not angry & their rage is impersonable. It is as if they are “possessed” when they are raging & their target is just whoever happens to be standing in their way at the time.

Along with rage, Stramoniums are also full of sexual tension. The man has strong sexual desire &/or lust that he is often struggling to keep “control” of inside of himself. Often, he will experience violent sexual fantasies.

Chances are if you have one psychotic parent, than you are probably going to inherit some psychotic tendencies. This is very true with the Stramonium child. Not only could psychotic tendencies be passed along, but on top of that, the Stramonium child has likely suffered from sexual abuse.

The Stramonium constitution is also prone to hearing voices. Furthermore, each voice has its own distinct personality. Some voices give orders, others give advice, & still other voices will actually mock & abuse Stramonium constitution. The Stramonium feels like he is possessed by many different entities & does not have control over any of them.

Not surprisingly, many Stramoniums have a list of phobias. He fears tunnels, flickering lights, shiny things, stripes & the colors red & black. Plus, many have the fear of being alone.

The Stramonium also fears losing his sanity & will often find comfort in things of a spiritual nature. He will pray fervently & when on a “high” feel very close to a Higher Power.

Along with fears, the Stramonium also tends to be on the obsessive/compulsive side. Rituals must be followed or anxiety will ensue. Whether it is from the smallest task of lacing their shoes in a certain way or to the more complicated bedtime routine, it is best not to throw the Stramonium off course.

Children of this constitution are often hyperactive. They cannot sit still for long & bebop around from one activity to the next. Unlike other children who also tend to be hyperactive, the Stramonium’s behavior is purposeless. There is no rhyme or reason for his motivation or actions. He will distract other children & is not able to concentrate for very long. Funny thing though that you will notice about a Stramonium child is that when you think he is not listening, he will often interrupt, make a poignant statement about what is being discussed at the time, & then go about his business. Proving that the Stramonium child is more perceptive than perceived.
